Business Report

(From April 1, 2018 to March 31, 2019)

1. Matters on Current Status of the IHI Group

(1) Progress of business operations and their results

● Business environment and initiatives taken by the IHI Group

During the fiscal year under review, the Japanese economy remained stable supported by increases in capital investment, robust corporate performance and improvements in situation of employment and income. In the global economy, overall moderate growth continued, with partial offset by a slowdown in business conditions in China, bolstered by steady growth in the U.S. On the other hand, in the political side, the unstable situation remained from problems including the trade friction between U.S. and China and the issue of U.K. regarding leaving EU.

Facing this environment in the fiscal year under review, which was also the final year of the “Group Management Policies 2016”, a three-year medium-term management plan that began in fiscal year 2016, IHI Group moved forward under the slogan “First Year for Change”, with initiatives not only to take all business areas across the Group into the black, but also to transform business structures and business models with the aim of building robust earnings foundations while responding speedily to discontinuous and drastic changes in both the management and business environments.

● Operating results

In the fiscal year under review, orders received decreased 7.0% from the previous fiscal year to ¥1,399.2 billion. Net sales decreased 6.7% from the previous fiscal year to ¥1,483.4 billion.

In terms of profit, operating profit increased by ¥10.2 billion to ¥82.4 billion. Although profitability in the civil aero engines business deteriorated owing to increases in the number of new-model engines sold, the issue regarding deterioration of profitability in large projects under way in North America in the process plants business is being brought under control on the whole. Ordinary profit, increasing by ¥44.3 billion to ¥65.7 billion, saw an expanding of profit margin gain due mainly to the positive turn in share of profit of entities accounted for using equity method and in foreign exchange gains and losses. Profit attributable to owners of parent was ¥39.8 billion, an increase of ¥31.5 billion.

Regarding the inadequate inspections that occurred in the civil aero engine maintenance business, the impacts of work suspension at the Company’s Mizuho Aero-Engine Works and the estimable compensation were recorded on cost of sales and non-operating expenses, respectively.

Helping restore the Kansai International Airport connecting bridge

The Company's subsidiary IHI Infrastructure Systems Co., Ltd. ("IIS") contributed to the rapid restoration of the connecting bridge at Kansai International Airport that was damaged during Typhoon Jebi in September 2018.

The bridge, with which a tanker collided, suffered serious damage in places, leading to the temporary closure of railway and road, except for emergency vehicles. IIS removed the central separator and the damaged bridge girders on the outbound line, in order to effect a speedy restoration of the airport's function.

All except one part of the removed bridge girders needed to be remanufactured, with Sakai Works of IIS being put in charge of designing, machining, assembling, etc. In February 2019, a large floating crane was used to carry out the erection of the bridge at sea during the night, after which the deck of the bridge was paved, leading to the complete restoration of three lanes in each direction by April 8, 2019.

The customer, West Nippon Expressway Company Limited, was delighted that we were able to complete restoration work that would usually have taken at least one year in just seven months.

○ Industrial System and General-Purpose Machinery

Main businesses

Logistics/industrial systems (logistics systems, industrial machineries), transport machineries, parking, thermal and surface treatment, vehicular turbochargers, Rotating machineries (compressor, separation system, turbochargers for ships), agricultural machineries/small power systems, steel manufacturing equipment, paper-making machineries

Order received for Thailand's largest refrigerated distribution center facility

The IHI Group received an order for the design, manufacture and installation of a set of logistics facilities for M-Senko Logistics Distribution Center in November 2018. The distribution center is a logistics base operating in three temperature zones (normal, refrigerated & frozen) to be built in the well-known Bangna commercial district of Bangkok by M-Senko, a joint venture company between investors Senko Co., Ltd., a major logistics company, and MK Restaurant, a major restaurant chain in Thailand, and others.

With the development of the restaurant industry and the increase in exports of frozen foods brought about by Thailand's economic development, the country's cold chain is expanding and consequentially so is the demand for refrigerated warehouses. This distribution center, which will be Thailand's largest in terms of total floor space, will be adjacent to the central kitchen of MK Restaurant Group. This facility will support the company's 650 stores throughout Thailand which are connected distribution network, through a highly efficient and high-quality storage and delivery system, making full use of Japanese know-how.

● Inadequate inspections in the civil aero engine maintenance business

During the months March to April, the Company announced that inadequate inspections had been carried out in the Company’s civil aero engine maintenance business, and it received administrative sanctions from the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry and the Ministry of Land, Infrastructure, Transport and Tourism pursuant to the respective laws under their jurisdiction. Regarding the inadequate practices, we offer our most sincere apologies for the immense trouble and concern caused to all related parties, including the airline companies and organizations involved, and our stakeholders.

In response to the administrative sanctions received from both ministries, the Company has already submitted improvement measures. In the following text, the Company provides the background regarding this incident, and explains the factors that caused the inadequate practices and recurrence prevention measures to be implemented.

1) Background

An onsite inspection by the competent authorities was carried out at the Company’s Mizuho Aero-Engine Works in January 2019, and as a result of the Company’s own internal investigation that followed, it came to light that the carrying out of inspections by unqualified persons and the improper adjustment of inspection implementation dates in the inspection log had occurred repeatedly.

In addition to reporting these cases to the relevant agencies, including the competent authorities, the Company also requested that the engine manufacturer conduct an inquiry into the airworthiness of the delivered items that had been checked by the inadequate inspection. As a result of the verifications, although it was confirmed that there was no impact directly on the airworthiness of the engines in which the delivered items had been installed, the Company issued a voluntary recall on some engines and parts from the perspective of long-term continual use. Moreover, from February 2019 onward, the Company voluntarily suspended all its inspection operations in the civil aero engine maintenance business. While receiving cooperation from external experts, the Company is proceeding with investigation into the causes and formulation of recurrence prevention measures.

2) Factors causing the inadequate practices

The factors causing these inadequate practices on the site of this business operation included the following. One factor was the implementation of operations with neither inspector training nor a plan to increase personnel to respond to the expansion of business operations and to meet the increased workload, placing priority on delivery times. Another factor was that safety consciousness and compliance consciousness at the site were lacking. Furthermore, although there had been opportunities for improvement within the Company up until the incident occurred, communication at the site had been inadequate, and information was not shared with the senior management level and neither the necessary analysis of causes nor the formulation of recurrence measures was carried out.

3) Measures to prevent recurrence

The Company is now making doubly sure that everyone in the Aero Engine, Space and Defense Business Area, particularly the site of the civil aero engine maintenance business, has sufficient safety consciousness, and it is carrying out compliance education in these locations. In addition, the Company has conducted a fundamental review of the safety management system through such measures as establishing the new position of safety manager, having the officer control the safety management operations, and establishing the “Safety Management System Department” in the business area. Moreover, the Company has conducted a review of the operations implementation structure, making changes to operation procedures to prevent the occurrence of incorrect actions and formulating work introduction plans that suitably correspond to operation process capabilities, among other actions.

The Company is fully conscious of the need to thoroughly implement these recurrence prevention measures and recover trust as soon as possible.

(2) Financing

The Company carried out financing primarily through 52.6 billion yen from long-term loans, and this was allocated for agreed repayment of long-term loans, redemption of bonds, working capital, and others.

(3) Capital investment

With regard to capital investment activities, the total capital investment for the fiscal year under review was ¥67.3 billion as a result of the company having made progress centering on the businesses stipulated as priority investment designation and Group Management Policies 2016, such as additional factory construction to increase production of new models of civil aero engine in the Aero Engine, Space and Defense business, new manufacturing facilities for the maintenance business, and manufacturing facilities etc. for the vehicular turbocharger production subsidiary in the Industrial Systems and General-Purpose Machinery business.

(4) Status of important business reorganizations, etc.

On September 27, 2018, the Company transferred the small power systems business operated by its wholly-owned subsidiary IHI Agri-Tech Corporation (“IAT”) to U.S.-based Caterpillar Inc. On the same date, IAT transferred its shares of the small power systems business companies to Caterpillar Inc., and, on December 28, 2018, IAT's small power systems business was succeeded by a Japanese corporation, which was newly established by Caterpillar Inc., through an absorption-type company split.

(5) Issues to be addressed

1) Review of Group Management Policies 2016

In the "Group Management Policies 2016", a medium-term management plan targeted from fiscal 2016 to fiscal 2018, the Group set a theme of "strengthening earnings foundations". The main initiatives within the plan are (1) concentrate and select through new portfolio management, (2) boost profitability by reinforcing project implementation structure, and (3) employ common Group functions to transform business models. The original management targets (operating profit margin of 7%, return on invested capital (ROIC) of 10%, D/E ratio of 0.7 times or lower) were not achieved, however, as a result of promoting reinforced risk management and concentration and selection of businesses, the operating profit margin and ROIC are on an improving trend. We consider it a positive that constant successes has been achieved with regard to strengthening earnings foundations.

On a different note, it has been revealed that inadequate inspections have been carried out in the civil aero engine maintenance business. The Company recognizes this fact as an extremely serious problem that undermines the core of our customer's trust regarding the Company's quality. In order to ensure that such an incident does not occur a second time, the Company is not only taking effective steps to ensure recurrence prevention measures, but also reaffirming the attitude among the entire IHI group of placing utmost priority on safety and quality. We consider the construct of a strongly effective quality assurance system as one of the most-vital management issues, in order to recover trust as soon as possible.

2) Role of Group Management Policies 2019 and initiatives for the three years

In fiscal 2019 IHI Group began "Group Management Policies 2019", which is a new medium-term management plan.

The IHI Group is directly tackling the issues faced by society and its customers with respect to the massive change occurring in the business environment, which encompasses not only the accelerating speed of technological innovation in such fields as IoT, ICT and AI, but also other aspects such as the rapidly changing nature of society's main issues. Through these endeavors, which considered to be activities of creating new values, we shoulder the expectation that we should be continuing to contribute to the realization of a sustainable society while setting goals from a long-term perspective. The next three years, beginning with fiscal 2019, targeted by "Group Management Policies 2019", will a period to accelerate business reforms into full-scale efforts and reimagining the vision of the business operations and products focused on the supply of hardware that have formed the core of the IHI Group in addition to continuing the concentration and selection of business operations. Our efforts will concentrate on the following three transformations.

(i) Strengthening business foundations

With the aim of improving value in our customer's business activities, we will accelerate aftermarket business development from lifecycle perspectives by bringing together the collective wisdom and experience accumulated within the IHI Group.

(ii) Building a robust operational structure

Through business structural reform carried out by promoting the optimal allocation of resources across the IHI Group, we will promote transformation into an operational structure that is lean and flexible.

(iii) Accelerating preparations for tomorrow

We will promote and accelerate transformation of our business model into one that creates new value that helps bring about a sustainable society from a long-term perspective.

In terms of business performance indicators, the IHI Group has set “ROIC (return on invested capital) of at least 10%” as the primary target. In light of the IHI Group’s future focus on expanding investments in business transformation linked to improving sustainable growth and enhancing corporate value, we have set this ROIC target as a way of promoting business operations that give proper attention to investment efficiency. Wishing to achieve further improvement in investment efficiency, we have set targets for the operating profit margin and cash conversion cycle, both elements of ROIC, as the key indicators of performance management, to 8% and 80 days, respectively.

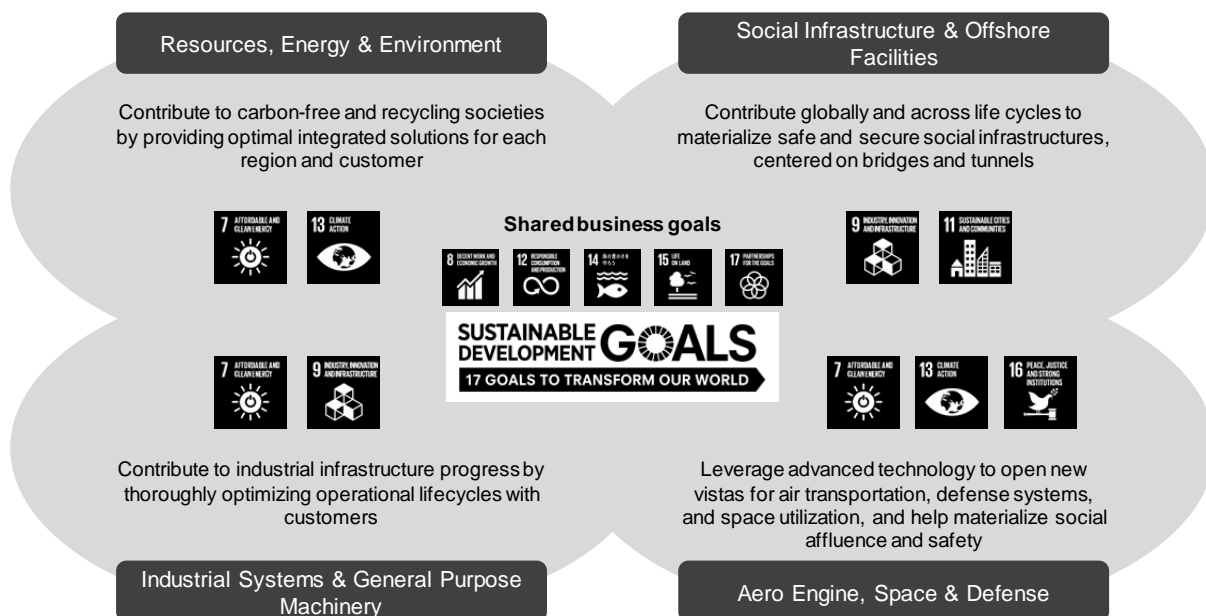

Even while proceeding with business transformation, IHI Group’s position of placing utmost priority on “safety and quality” will remain stable. In addition, we will further strengthen “risk management” and work toward realizing reform of the business structure and transformation of business models to respond to the changes in the business environment.

By working on these various measures, the IHI Group will seek to restore trust, while achieving improvement in corporate value through sustainable growth of society and its customers, and meeting the expectations of its stakeholders.

We would like to ask for your continued understanding and support.

The following activities are carried out pursuant to the policy established for storing and management of documents and digital records: document management, investigation of the status of the management on a company-wide basis, and guidance to ensure appropriate filing methods, etc.

From an information security perspective, we are working on global risk countermeasures, strengthening rules on taking business data outside the organization, and on getting audit activities to take root.

Although the operational status of the internal controls of the IHI Group were confirmed as described above, amid the ongoing analysis into the cause relating to the quality problem in the civil aero engine maintenance business, it was confirmed that there are issues regarding the operation of the compliance activity system and the risk management system.

During fiscal 2019, the IHI Group will tackle these issues while concentrating on the following two points, striving for continual improvement.

- (i) We will strengthen and enhance the IHI Group's compliance system and programs. Gaining insight from analysis that delves deeply to the level of workplace interactions and culture, and the normative consciousness of employees, we will construct mechanisms that allow the effective functioning of systems aimed at deploying measures to prevent inappropriate practices from ever arising or detect such practices at an early stage.
- (ii) We will identify the particularly important aspects of risks that could inhibit us from achieving business strategies, and focus on monitoring and managing them in order to strengthen our risk management system.

(2) Valuation bases and methods of derivatives

Derivatives are stated at fair market value.

(3) Valuation bases and methods of inventories

Finished goods and work in process are stated principally at identified cost (for figures shown on balance sheet, the book value write-down method based on decreased profitability is used).

Raw materials and supplies are stated at moving-average cost (for figures shown on balance sheet, the book value write-down method based on decreased profitability is used).

(4) Depreciation and amortization of non-current assets

Property, plant and equipment (except for leased assets)

Leased assets

Leased assets related to ownership transfer finance lease transactions are depreciated using the same method as that applied to property, plant and equipment.

Leased assets related to non-ownership transfer finance leases are depreciated over the lease period as useful period using the straight-line method with no residual value. The Company uses the method for ordinary rental transactions for non-ownership transfer finance leases for which lease agreements were concluded on or before March 31, 2008.

(5) Bases for significant allowances and provisions

Allowance for doubtful accounts

To prepare for losses on bad debts, the allowance for doubtful accounts is provided for based on historical default rates for general receivables, plus individually estimated uncollectible amounts for specific receivables such as doubtful receivables.

Provision for bonuses

For payment of employee bonuses, the provision for bonuses is provided for in the amount that is expected to be paid.

The domestic consolidated subsidiaries provided the provision for directors' retirement benefits for the amount required to be paid at the end of the fiscal year under review in accordance with the internal policy.

Provision for loss on business of subsidiaries and affiliates

To prepare for losses on the businesses of subsidiaries and affiliates, estimated loss amount is provided for, taking into account the details of assets and other factors of the relevant subsidiaries.

(6) Other significant matters concerning the preparation of consolidated financial statements

Recognition of revenue and expenses

Basis of recognizing revenues and costs of construction contracts

Hedge accounting

(1) Hedge accounting

Deferred hedge accounting is applied.

(2) Hedging instruments and hedged items

Interest swaps are used to hedge interest rate risks associated with loans, and forward foreign exchange contracts, etc. are used to hedge foreign currency risks associated with monetary claims and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies.

(3) Hedging policy

Hedging instruments necessary for each risk category are selected.

(4) Method of assessing effectiveness of hedging

In the period from the beginning of hedging to the point of assessment, effectiveness is evaluated by comparing the cumulative total of the change in market value of or the change in cash flow of a hedged item, with the cumulative total of the change in market value of or the change in cash flow of hedging instruments.

Accounting for retirement benefits

To prepare for employees' retirement benefits, net defined benefit asset/liability is recognized based on the estimated amounts of retirement benefit obligations and pension fund assets at the end of the fiscal year under review. Some consolidated subsidiaries adopt the conventional method to determine net defined benefit liability.

In the calculation of retirement benefit obligations, the method used to attribute projected benefit obligations in the period up to the fiscal year under review is benefit formula basis.

Past service cost is amortized using the straight-line method over a certain number of years within the average remaining service period of employees at the time of accrual.

Actuarial gain or loss is amortized starting in the fiscal year following the fiscal year in which it occurs using the straight-line method over a certain number of years within the average remaining service period of employees.

Amortization method and period of goodwill

Goodwill is amortized through the estimated effective period of the investment, with the exception that when the amount of goodwill is immaterial, it is charged to expenses as incurred.

Consumption taxes

Transactions subject to consumption taxes are recorded at amounts exclusive of consumption taxes.

Application of the consolidated taxation system

The consolidated taxation system has been applied.

II. Changes in Accounting Policies

(Change of principal methods for hedge accounting)

Forward foreign exchange rates had been applied for monetary claims and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies under forward foreign exchange contracts if conditions had been met (the forward method). Also, special treatment had been applied for interest rate swaps if conditions for the special treatment had been met.

As a result of reviewing management methods suitable for global business operation, the IHI Group changed the principal methods for hedge accounting to deferral hedge accounting in order to reflect on its consolidated financial statements more accurately the status of monetary claims and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies and the status of derivative contracts from the fiscal year under review.

The change in accounting policies is not applied retrospectively, as the effect of this change on past periods was immaterial. Moreover, the effect of this change on operating profit, ordinary profit and profit before income taxes for the fiscal year under review was immaterial.

III. Changes in Presentation

(Application of the “Partial Amendments to Accounting Standard for Tax Effect Accounting”)

The Company has applied the “Partial Amendments to Accounting Standard for Tax Effect Accounting” (ASBJ Statement No. 28, February 16, 2018) effective from the beginning of the fiscal year under review. VI. Financial Instruments

1. Status of Financial Instruments

As a Group policy, the Company and consolidated subsidiaries restrict the investments only in short-term and highly safe financial instruments and obtain funds mainly through bank borrowings and bond issuance.

The customer credit risks in connection with notes and accounts receivable are managed by monitoring the balances and the collectability status by customer and by order in accordance with the Company's policies and procedures. At the same time, the financial status of each counterparty is periodically monitored in order to early capture and mitigate collectability concern arisen from deterioration in financial conditions.

Foreign currency risks associated with monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are, in principle, hedged by utilizing foreign exchange futures and currency option contracts.

As for securities and investment securities, their market prices and the financial status of issuers are regularly assessed, and the Company's holding status is continuously monitored.

Loans, commercial papers and bond payables are made for the purpose of obtaining working capital and funds for capital expenditures. Of which, loans, commercial papers or bond payables with floating rate are exposed to fluctuation risk of interest rate, therefore, such risk is hedged by employing derivative contracts.

Derivative contracts are utilized solely to avoid fluctuation risks of foreign exchange rate, interest rate and commodity prices, and the Company does not enter derivative contracts for speculative purpose.

2. Fair Values of Financial Instruments

(Notes)

1. Fair value measurement of financial instruments and notes on securities and derivatives
 - (1) Cash and deposits
The fair value of cash and deposits approximates their book value because of their short-term nature. Thus, the book value is used as fair value.
 - (2) Notes and accounts receivable - trade
The fair values are measured based on the present values calculated by discounting receivable amounts classified by certain period at a rate with time to maturity and credit risk taken into account.
 - (3) Securities and investment securities
The fair values of equity securities are based on the market prices at the exchange.
 - (4) Notes and accounts payable - trade, (5) Short-term loans payable, and (6) Commercial papers
The fair value of these accounts approximates their book value because of their short-term nature. Thus, the book value is used as fair value.
 - (7) Bonds payable
The fair value of bonds issued by the Company is based on market price. If there is no market price, the price is computed by the present value method by which the total amount of principal and interest is discounted for the remaining period of the bond and taking into account credit risk.
 - (8) Long-term loans payable
The fair value of long-term loans payable is measured by discounting the total amount of principals and interests at an assumed interest rate for similar new borrowings.
 - (9) Derivatives
The fair value of forward foreign exchange contracts is based on the forward exchange rate. The fair value of interest rate swaps is based on the prices provided by the financial institution with which the Company does business.
2. Unlisted equity securities (consolidated balance sheet amount of 17,314 million yen) and shares of subsidiaries and affiliates (consolidated balance sheet amount of 84,498 million yen) are not included in the above “(3) Securities and investment securities, Available-for-sale securities,” since their market price is not available and the assessment of their fair values is deemed extremely difficult.

Notes to the Non-Consolidated Financial Statements

I. Significant Accounting Policies

1. Valuation Bases and Methods of Assets

(1) Securities

Shares of subsidiaries and affiliates are stated at moving-average cost. Other securities with market prices available are stated at fair market value as of the balance sheet date. The related valuation differences are directly included into net assets and the cost of sale price is determined by the moving-average method. Other securities without market prices available are stated at moving-average cost.

(2) Derivatives

Derivatives are stated at fair market value.

(3) Inventories

Work in process is stated at identified cost (for figures shown on balance sheet, the book value write-down method based on decreased profitability is used). Raw materials and supplies are stated at moving-average cost (for figures shown on balance sheet, the book value write-down method based on decreased profitability is used).

2. Depreciation and Amortization of Non-current Assets

(1) Property, plant and equipment (except for leased assets)

These assets are depreciated by the straight-line method.

(2) Intangible assets (except for leased assets)

Intangible assets are amortized by the straight-line method. Software used internally is amortized using the straight-line method over the useful life of the assets as estimated by the company (within five years).

(3) Leased assets

Leased assets related to ownership transfer finance lease transactions are depreciated using the same method as that applied to property, plant and equipment.

Leased assets related to non-ownership transfer finance leases are depreciated over the lease period as useful period using the straight-line method with no residual value. The Company uses the method for ordinary rental transactions for non-ownership transfer finance leases for which lease agreements were concluded on or before March 31, 2008.

3. Bases for Allowances and Provisions

(1) Allowance for doubtful accounts

To prepare for losses on bad debts, the allowance for doubtful accounts is provided for based on historical default rates for general receivables, plus individually estimated uncollectible amounts for specific receivables such as doubtful receivables.

(2) Provision for bonuses

For payment of employee bonuses, the provision for bonuses is provided for in the amount that is expected to be paid.

(3) Provision for directors' bonuses

To prepare for the transfer of money and shares to the directors, etc., an amount is recognized based on the estimated amount of the liability for transfer of money and shares at the end of the fiscal year under review.

(4) Provision for construction warranties

To prepare for expenditures for construction warranties, the provision for construction warranties is provided for in the amount of estimated future expenditures based on historical experience.

(5) Provision for loss on construction contracts

Provision for loss on construction contracts is provided for in the amount of estimated losses on undelivered construction contracts to occur at the end of the fiscal year under review.

(6) Provision for retirement benefits

Provision for retirement benefits is provided for based on estimated amounts of projected benefit obligations and pension fund assets as of the balance sheet date.

In the calculation of defined benefit liability, the method used to attribute projected benefit obligations in the period up to the fiscal year under review is benefit formula basis.

Past service cost is amortized using the straight-line method over a certain number of years within the average remaining service period of employees at the time of accrual.

Actuarial gain or loss is amortized starting in the fiscal year following the fiscal year in which it occurs using the straight-line method over a certain number of years within the average remaining service period of employees.

(7) Provision for loss on business of subsidiaries and affiliates

To prepare for losses on the businesses of subsidiaries and affiliates, estimated loss amount is provided for, taking into account the details of assets and other factors of the relevant subsidiaries.

4. Basis of Recognizing Revenues and Expenses

Basis of recognizing revenues and costs of construction contracts

Construction projects whose outcome of the progress by the end of the fiscal year is deemed definite are recorded on the percentage-of-completion basis (rate of progress estimated by the cost-ratio method), while all other projects are accounted for on the completed construction basis.

5. Other Significant Matters Concerning Preparation of the Non-Consolidated Financial Statements

(1) Hedge accounting

1) Hedge accounting

Deferred hedge accounting is applied.

2) Hedging instruments and hedged items

Interest swaps are used to hedge interest rate risks associated with loans, and forward foreign exchange contracts, etc. are used to hedge foreign currency risks associated with monetary claims and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies.

3) Hedging policy

Hedging instruments necessary for each risk category are selected.

4) Method of assessing effectiveness of hedging

In the period from the beginning of hedging to the point of assessment, effectiveness is evaluated by comparing the cumulative total of the change in market value of or the change in cash flow of a hedged item, with the cumulative total of the change in market value of or the change in cash flow of hedging instruments.

(2) Accounting method for retirement benefits

In the non-consolidated financial statements, the treatment for unrecognized actuarial gain or loss and unrecognized past service cost on the balance sheet is different to the treatment in the consolidated financial statements. On the non-consolidated balance sheet, unrecognized actuarial gain or loss and unrecognized past service cost are added or deleted from projected benefit obligations and the resulting amount is recorded in provision for retirement benefits.

(3) Consumption taxes

Transactions subject to consumption taxes are recorded at amounts exclusive of consumption taxes.

(4) Application of the consolidated taxation system

The consolidated taxation system has been applied.

II. Changes in Accounting Policies

(Change of principal methods for hedge accounting)

Forward foreign exchange rates had been applied for monetary claims and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies under forward foreign exchange contracts if conditions had been met (the furiate method). Also, special treatment had been applied for interest rate swaps if conditions for the special treatment had been met.

As a result of reviewing management methods suitable for global business operation, the Company changed the principal methods for hedge accounting to deferral hedge accounting in order to reflect on its financial statements more accurately the status of monetary claims and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies and the status of derivative contracts from the fiscal year under review.

The change in accounting policies is not applied retrospectively, as the effect of this change on past periods was immaterial. Moreover, the effect of this change on operating profit, ordinary profit and profit before income taxes for the fiscal year under review was immaterial.

III. Changes in Presentation

(Application of the “Partial Amendments to Accounting Standard for Tax Effect Accounting”)

The Company has applied the “Partial Amendments to Accounting Standard for Tax Effect Accounting” (ASBJ Statement No. 28, February 16, 2018) effective from the beginning of the fiscal year under review. Accordingly, deferred tax assets were presented under “Investments and other assets” and deferred tax liabilities were presented under “Non-current liabilities.”
